What's coming in 2025

Exciting new products

... for example from our own mt series!

Our product range, especially our in-house mt series, has also received exciting new additions in the new year. We are constantly developing new items for a wide range of applications, which are manufactured according to our own design and quality specifications - and are available exclusively from Marinetech.

What makes them so special? The products in the mt series are unique in this form and not previously available on the market. These are often standard products that we offer in higher quality materials, in additional sizes or in special colours. In addition, there are also mt products that offer completely new functions and thus create innovative solutions.
